

Migration and Remigration: Jews in Germany after 1945

International Conference: 1 June 2003

Summary:

The conference was organised jointly by the Leo Baeck Institute London and the Bucerius Institute at the University of Haifa. The conference brought together researchers who recently have been working on the subjects of Jewish migration and re-emigration to Germany after 1945. The social as well as intellectual history of re-emigration to Germany was analyzed.

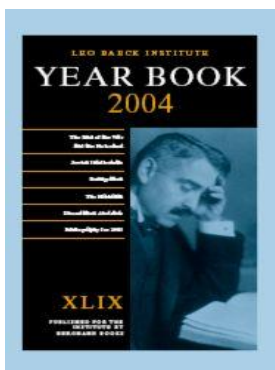

Group picture

Panel

Panel

Publication:

The Leo Baeck Institute Year Book 2004

Editors: J. A. S. Grenville and Raphael Gross

Invitation

Conference Schedule, Lecturers and Topics

Greetings:

Yfaat Weiss , Bucerius Institute, University of Haifa
Raphael Gross , Leo Baeck Institute London:

First Panel: The Remigration of the Ordinary People

Chair: Haya Bar-Itzhak , University of Haifa

Marita Krauss , University of Bremen
Towards a History of Jewish Remigration

Tobias Winstel , Ludwig-Maximilians-University, Munich
Jewish Remigrants and the German "Wiedergutmachung"

Meron Mendel , University of Haifa
Compensation versus Repatriation: West German and Israeli Perspectives

Response: Cilly Kugelmann , Jewish Museum Berlin:

Second Panel: Intellectual Remigration

Chair: Fania Oz-Salzberger , University of Haifa

Nicolas Berg , Simon Dubnow Institute, Leipzig:
Hidden Memories and Untold History: Hans Rothfels and the Reestablishment of German Historiography after 1945

Arnd Bauerkämper , Center for Comparative History of Europe, Free University Berlin
German Jewish Historians and Political Scientists as Intermediaries: The Case of Hans Rothfels and Ernst Fraenkel

Lars Rensmann , Free University Berlin
Returning from Forced Exile:
Theodor W. Adorno's and Hannah Arendt's Reflections on Post-War Germany

Response: Gabriel Motzkin , Hebrew University of Jerusalem